

So in Love

*An evening of music
performed by David and Sarah Joy Miller*

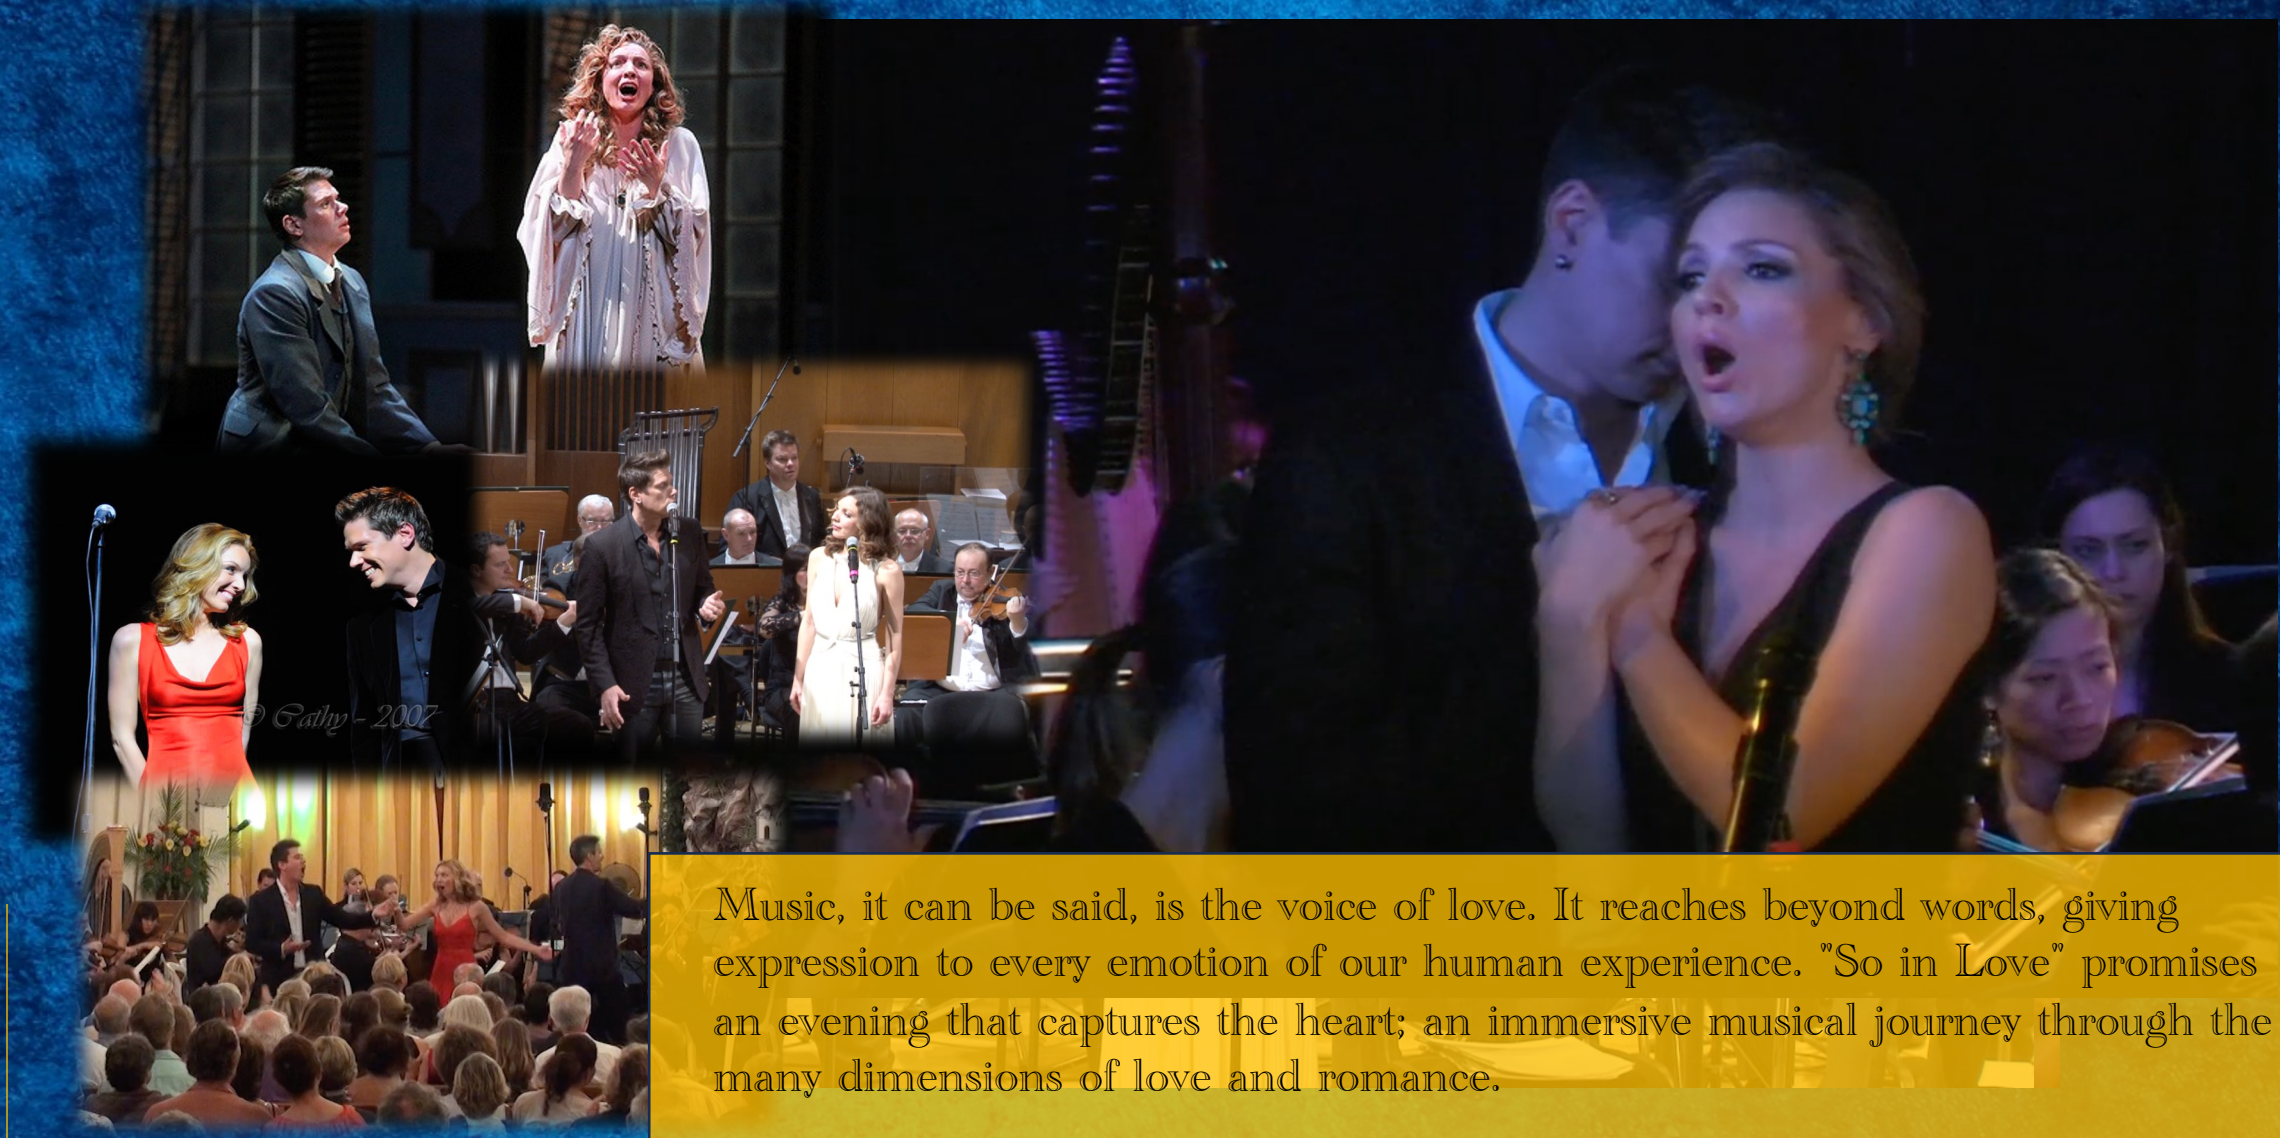

World-renowned Il Divo's David Miller, and his wife, acclaimed soprano Sarah Joy Miller, have been enchanting audiences with their duets from the very first moment they met two decades ago.

Their paths first intertwined on the Broadway stage as the romantic leads in Baz Luhrmann's "La Bohème," igniting a passionate love story amidst their successful performance careers.

Music, it can be said, is the voice of love. It reaches beyond words, giving expression to every emotion of our human experience. "So in Love" promises an evening that captures the heart; an immersive musical journey through the many dimensions of love and romance.

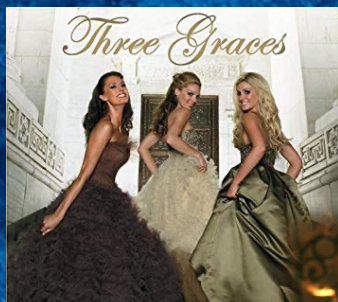

David's journey from acclaimed opera stages to global concert venues showcases his versatile talent and contributions to the world of music. Since 2003, he has shone as a founding member of the globally renowned Il Divo, embarking on worldwide tours and numerous multi-platinum recordings.

Since launching her career in La Bohème, Sarah Joy has carved out a dynamic career spanning multiple genres. In addition to being signed by Decca Records as part of the crossover ensemble “Three Graces,” her vocal talent has been celebrated on prestigious stages, including the New York Metropolitan Opera and Carnegie Hall. She has been celebrated for her portrayal of the title role in the opera “Anna Nicole,” and has recently captivated audiences as the opera diva Christina Nilsson in HBO’s “The Gilded Age”

Under the guidance of Maestro Steven Mercurio, lauded for his collaborations with luminaries such as Sting, Andrea Bocelli, and the Prague Symphony, "So In Love" is sure to deliver transcendent performances with world-class orchestras.
